Aunt Aggie De's Debuts New Cocoa Mocha Praline

Texas candy manufacturer brings a little taste of the Northwest to its famous line of pecan pralines

Sinton, Texas (October 1, 2015) – Aunt Aggie De's Pralines, Inc., maker of the best gourmet pecan pralines in Texas, proudly debuts a new praline flavor, the Cocoa Mocha Praline, to join its line of award winning gourmet pralines and pecan candies.

Starting with Aunt Aggie De's classic praline recipe, the Cocoa Mocha Praline is infused with dark-roast coffee, and blended with cocoa nibs. "We wanted to add a praline that our customers could enjoy any time, as a breakfast treat to energize their day, an afternoon pick-me-up, or as an indulgent dessert," said Eleanor Harren, founder and owner of the gourmet praline company. The combination of coffee, chocolate and pecan praline makes the Cocoa Mocha Praline a definite all-day snack.

Like all of Aunt Aggie De's candies, the Cocoa Mocha Praline is made from high-quality, all-natural, gluten-free ingredients. "Every two-ounce praline we make contains almost a full ounce of the highest-quality pecan halves, carefully selected for the best flavor," said Harren. Pecans are rich in fiber, monounsaturated fats, magnesium and other healthy nutrients. Cocoa nibs are the least processed form of chocolate, which makes them rich in antioxidants and flavonoids.

The Cocoa Mocha Praline can be purchased at Aunt Aggie De's retail store in Sinton, or online on their website. It will soon be appearing at fine retailers throughout the United States.
